AUX-12 Auxiliary Public Affairs C School is the boot camp for Auxiliary public affairs officers. Every public affairs officer in the auxiliary should take this class to learn how to perform their duties effectively. The course teaches the students how to correctly send out Press Releases, manage Media Relations, Media Interviews, Photography, Copy Editing/News writing, Article submissions to local, national level and other public affairs matters of special interest to the Auxiliary. This is a fun filled weekend starting on a Friday morning and ending on a Sunday afternoon.

Twenty (20) members are invited to attend the Anchorage training. National funding is available. Aux-12 is open to all members, but there is a selection criteria for attending.

There will be a priority selection for FSO-Public Affair Officers, Flotilla Commanders, and then other flotilla members wanting to be more involved with public affairs. The goal is to have each flotilla send a member to attend. Airfare and hotel will be funded as needed. Students are requested to take the "Intro to Public Affairs" online course before the September class.
